

Re: College Student asking for Written Permissions to use a video for a Final Website Project

Kevin Lam <klam16@student.ccc.edu>

Wed 7/24/2024 5:27 PM

To: hitokage <ihitokage@seznam.cz>

Thank you so much!

Just the simple Email Response is fine, I really appreciate it! I can take over from here and turn it into a PDF Document.

From,
Kevin Lam

---

From: hitokage <ihitokage@seznam.cz>

Sent: Monday, July 22, 2024 12:35 AM

To: Kevin Lam <klam16@student.ccc.edu>

Subject: Re: College Student asking for Written Permissions to use a video for a Final Website Project

You don't often get email from ihitokage@seznam.cz. Learn why this is important

Hello,

you can use my video. Not sure how you need the permission, do you have a template? Glad you found it useful.

Good luck with your project!

Tom

On 7/20/24 11:47 PM, Kevin Lam wrote:

Hello to whomever this is addressed to,

I am a college student and currently working on a final project and I've stumbled on a video that is linked to your channel <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=pVKa5dTSIEQ>. I would like to ask for written permission to allow me to be able to use it for my project. The project is to create a website on where I would want to travel and I choose Japan as the targeted topic and the video mentioned are one of the videos that I would like to incorporate onto my website as the project asks me to create an informational page which I wanted to include your video regarding etiquettes and do's and don'ts while in Japan. So to reiterate the main point of this email I am a college student asking for written permissions to ask if I am able to use said video for this final project and would appreciate it to have it in a PDF document in order to cite that I have permissions to use your video being the latest I can receive this document is Thursday 7/25/2024 as my deadline is on the 7/27.

Japan Travel Tips 101 Starter Pack: Quick Tourist Advice and Useful Info

I wanted to share some quick travel tips about Japan. Some of them I wish I knew before I went there. These are things I found useful and that I remember mos...

Best and Thank you,
Kevin Lam